The hesitancy which characterized operations at the Stock Exchange. Wednesday, disappeared entirely yesterday morning, and the market for securities developed firmer strength. Stocks were particularly firm under liberal purchases, both for the long and short accounts, and a notable feature of the dealings was the demand for industrial shares. In addition to liberal buying by the professionals, the commission-houses reported an increased number of orders for out-of-t own account, both for railroad as well as industrial shares. The general market closed strong at or near the top figures of the day.

There was a brisk inquiry for railroad bonds throughout the day, and the market was strong. The dealings aggregated $1,783,009. The low-priced issues were most prominent in the dealings. Green Bay & Winona incomes sold up 2%. Government bonds were strong and State bonds steady. Closing quotations were.

A Man Without Politics.

New York Evening Post. A remarkable case of political indifferentism is reported from Princeton College. President Patton announces that he cares President Patton announces that he cares nothing for politics. "I am interested in philosophy and theology, and these are the only things I want to be known in. I vote for neither party." It must be a curious kind of theology or philosophy that a man can be thus content to study in vacuo, with no desire to know how they operate in society. What does it avail a philosophy and recluse to speculate on the high sophical recluse to speculate on the high-est good, if in the meantime, through fail-ure to attend to his political duties, he allows himselt and his fellow-citizens to be robbed of highest and lowest goods alike? And theology must be a more unpractical discipline than is commonly sup-posed if it compels a man to give all his thoughts to abstract propositions and allows him no time to consider the actual effects of theological tenets on civic life,

PRICES AVERAGED LOWER

Early Transactions in Wheat at Top Figures, After Which It Declined.

Lower Cables, Taken with an Increase of 5, 834,000 Bushels in the Visible, According to Bradstreet, Were Potent.

TRADING AT CHICAGO.

Provisions Were Easter at First, but Firmed

Up Later in the Day. CHICAGO, Nov. 10 .- In the face of firmness in grain abroad, prices here for nearly every article on the Board of Trade averaged lower to-day. There was some recovery near the close, but wheat, compared with last night, is 120 lower. Corn is up 4@3c. Provisions were steady at a slight decline, except January lard, which was scarce and wanted. While the early transactions in wheat were at full yesterday's figures, a week feeling soon developed and there was a steady drop of nearly a cent, but a fractien of this was recovered later. English cables came in a trifle higher, and at the start domestic markets held their own very well. Outside of this there was nothing very encouraging for the bulls. A good deal of the wheat bought on the bull wave yesterday was put on the market and helped to cause depression. Another very influential bear factor was Bradstreet's report of the available supply, which showed an increase during the week of 5,834,000 bushels on both coasts. Opening unchanged, quotations fell 4 @ %c, rallied 4c and closed steady. There were pretty free offerings in the corn pit and considerable that was bought on yesterday's bulge was thrown over-board, while short selling was also quite a feature. There was a good demand for December at the start from shorts, while May was more freely offered and sold off slightly while the first-named month advanced, The decline covered all futures as the day advanced, there being quite free realizing, which carried prices off %c, a large local holder being credited with moderate sales. At the decline the demand improved and the car lots for to-morrow coming in light, at 210 cars, local traders started in to bny. which advanced the price &c, but did not hold, as offerings being considerably increased, rallied afterward and closed with near futures 15@40 lower and May 360

There was a good trade in December and May oats, particularly in May, and a weaker feeling prevailed most of the day. The provision market was quiet and easier early in the session, but firmed up on the call and recovered its former bullish tone later in the day. Ribs were compara-tively neglected. The hog market was reported easier, but the receipts were not such as to alarm the longs. The most noticeable feature of the trade was the buying of January lard by Hately Bros. January lard, compared with yesterday's close, is .05c higher, January pork is 10c lower and January ribs .07½c lower.

Freights were steady with a fair demand for yessel room at 2¾c for wheat and 2½c for corn to Buffalo. Estimated receipts for to-morrow are: Wheat, 250 cars; corn, 210 cars: oats, 165 cars: hogs, 23,000. The STORY OF A MEDAL. A Survivor of the Iron Brigade Recovers It Years A ter the War. St. Louis Republic.

"During the winter of the year 1861, when the 'Iron Brigade' was encamped on Arlington Heights," said Loyd G. Harris, a well-known St. Louisan, to a reporter, "an enterprising individual made his appearance in camp, offering medals for sale. On one side was the regulation American eagle. with the words 'United States' and 'War of 1861.' The reverse side was blank, on which he proposed to stamp the name and rank of officers and soldiers, urging as an inducement to buy these medals that they would serve to identify any person who might be so unfortunate as to be killed or wounded. I bought one, and in due time it was delivered to me. It was stamped in plain letters: 'Lt. Loyd G. Harris, Co. C, 6th Regt. Wis. Vol., Pra. du Chien.'

"In the spring of 1862 the division to which the brigade was attached was taken from McCleilan's army, which had already embarked for the peninsula, and under command of McDowell moved out to Fredericksburg. While at Fredericksburg during the summer, encamped on the Falmouth side of the river, we made one or two raids in the direction of Richmond. At one time we encamped in the vicinity of Salem Church, just back of Fredericksburg, and while there I lost my medal. After lying on the ground thirty years the medal was found by Mr. E. Mersereau, of Fredericks-burg, Vs., and by corresponding with the postmaster of Prairie du Chien, Wis., Maj. Ed Whaley, who, by the way, was a gallant member of Company C, and who for conspicuous bravery became major of his regiment, and finally left a leg in Virginia, my address was obtained, and this week the medal reached me. Reminiscences by scores and memories of old cluster around this medal. On the spot where it was found both of the mighty armies, the Army of the Potomac and Lee's army, were twice engaged in conflict. First, the battle of Fredericksburg, and second, the battle of Chancellorsville, where callant Sedgwick fought and where the famous charge was made by the Sixth Maine and Fifth Wisconsin.

"The man that sold these little medals to the 'Iron Brigade' little thought, nor did the men have any idea at that time, that of all brigades in the service of the United States that one particular brigade would have the most use for them. For, according to the records in the War Office at Wash-ington, their per cent, in killed and wounded was the largest of any engaged in the "One medal was sold to Capt. Edward Brown, of the Sixth Wisconsin. I was with the Captain at Bristow Station, Va., when he gave the medal to a little girl, telling her that she reminded him of his little one at home. As Antietam he was killed, and when our burying party buried the Union and confederate dead together. the same medal was found on the body of a dead confederate lying only one hundred yards away.".

President Harrison's Services.

New York Sun (Dem.)
The twenty-third President of the United States will go out of office on the 4th of next March, baving earned the respect and sincere esteem of his fellow-countrymen, Democrats as well as Republicans. While the political tates have decreed that Benjamin Harrison shall figure in history as a one-term President, that one term will stand without the distigurement of any serious scandal, and marked with many creditable deeds and important public services. It is a pleasant thing to remember that in the canvass just ended few words have been said or written concern-ing General Harrison which represent him as anything but what he is, namely, a man of superior intellect and elevated character, and a chief magistrate whom the country can always regard with admiration.

Heard in an electric car: "I can't belp it. I always associate the Australian ballot with the kangaroo, and the ornithorhyn-chus and things like that." "But they're not at all connected." "Well, they all come from the Antipodes, and every one of them make me feel as if I were standing on my head on the other side of the world -just to think of them."

DAILY, SUNDAY AND WEEKLY.

The Journal is first of all a newspaper.

Its primary object is to publish the news. and to secure this it spares no pains or expense. Besides the service of two great news agencies, which cover foreign countries as well as the entire United States, it has a corps of Special Correspondents, who give attention to those events and occurrences that are likely to be of particular interest to the Indiana public. Its Washington bureau was established for the purpose of looking after matters in which the State and its people are concerned, and is under the management of an Indiana man well acquainted with the local business and political issues. It has a correspondent in every town of importance in the State, and is constantly increasing its facilities for obtaining information from every quarter. Its staff of city reporters is large, and its local departments are unexcelled. As a news paper it is far better equipped than any other in the State, and welcomes comparison with its contemporaries in any and all of its departments. With all it endeavors to be accurate and trustworthy, printing the news, whatever it may be, without personal or partisan

But while the Journal is non-partisan as to news, it is a Republican paper, and sets forth Republican principles. Itis important that the people shall read the truth about these principles, and it was with the object of putting everybody in the way of doing so that the price of the

No other method of securing a Republican victory at the polls is so certain as the circulation of Republican papers among voters. Since the reduction in the price thousands of subscriptions have poured in from all parts of the State, showing that a need was supplied. In order to have the proper influence and effect upon voters seeking for trustworthy information the Journal should go into their hands at once, and not next spring or summer. Clubs are being formed and agencies established wherever daily mails reach, and as rapidly as traveling agents can visit the places, but Republicans in each and every locality cannot do their party greater service than to interest themselves in circulating the Journal
